I'm spinning in a room is a piece inspired by Alvin Lucier, I am sitting in a room, art-work with difference of having the Speaker and the Microphone both rotating on a turning table. Every 1 minute and 36 sec the table makes a full turn, and the voice recording is timed with the table full rotation. The rotation of the speaker and the microphone give the sound a four dimensional aspect.

Also, the microphone and speaker are both calibrated so it's less likely to record the artifact of the speaker of the microphone and having a higher chance of recording only the resonance of the room itself without the effect of the microphone and the speaker on the outcome.

Microphone: Spark Digital from Blue Microphones. Speaker: Yamaha HS8.
